COMPANY PROFILE

DESIGN CREATES CULTURE. CULTURE SHAPES VALUES.
VALUES DETERMINE THE FUTURE.

Foglizzo is an Italian company that for over three generations has been producing high quality leather for clients requiring exclusivity and customisation in a wide variety of applications. We are driven by a culture of excellence with unrivalled artisanal and technical skills, and a profound understanding of our customers' needs.

Founded in Turin in 1921, initially as a supplier of high-quality leather for furniture and fashion, Foglizzo has diversified in the ensuing decades. Our products are now delivered worldwide, but we resolutely remain a family company and although we still supply premium automotive leather we are also a leading player in the aviation, yachting, hospitality and contract sectors. Whatever the application, we are able to meet our clients' demand for leather creations in which quality, creativity and authenticity are the vital ingredients.

2021 is our centenary year. Many of the traditional handcrafted processes we use to create our leathers are much the same as they were 100 years ago, but we aim to connect the past, present and future by embracing advanced technologies to achieve new designs and finishes once thought impossible. Our century-old heritage continues to thrive today thanks to the efforts of a young, talented team of craftsmen and women who embrace the use of avant-garde technologies to produce beautiful, innovative and contemporary solutions.

What do we stand out for?

Service

Inspired by the spirit of former generations, we cultivate our difference through the personal relations we establish with our international clients. Respect, collaboration and expertise are the building blocks of our ambitions.

VALUES

“A 100-year-old company naturally looks to the future, not just worrying about today, but planning a sustainable tomorrow.

For us, sustainability is not just about reducing the environmental impact in the production process, but it is a concept that is more extended to all phases of our business, from the process of acquiring the raw material to its reuse”.

Marco Foglizzo

TRADITION

A CENTURY OF MATERIAL AND IMMATERIAL HERITAGE IS SYNONYMOUS WITH A HEALTHY COMPANY THAT KNOWS HOW TO LOOK TO THE FUTURE WITH CONFIDENCE AND AWARENESS.

Heir to the best Italian practices, we are able to leverage our experience in handcrafting leather handed down from generation to generation. In short, we always have one eye firmly on tradition and the other on innovation.

TECHNOLOGY

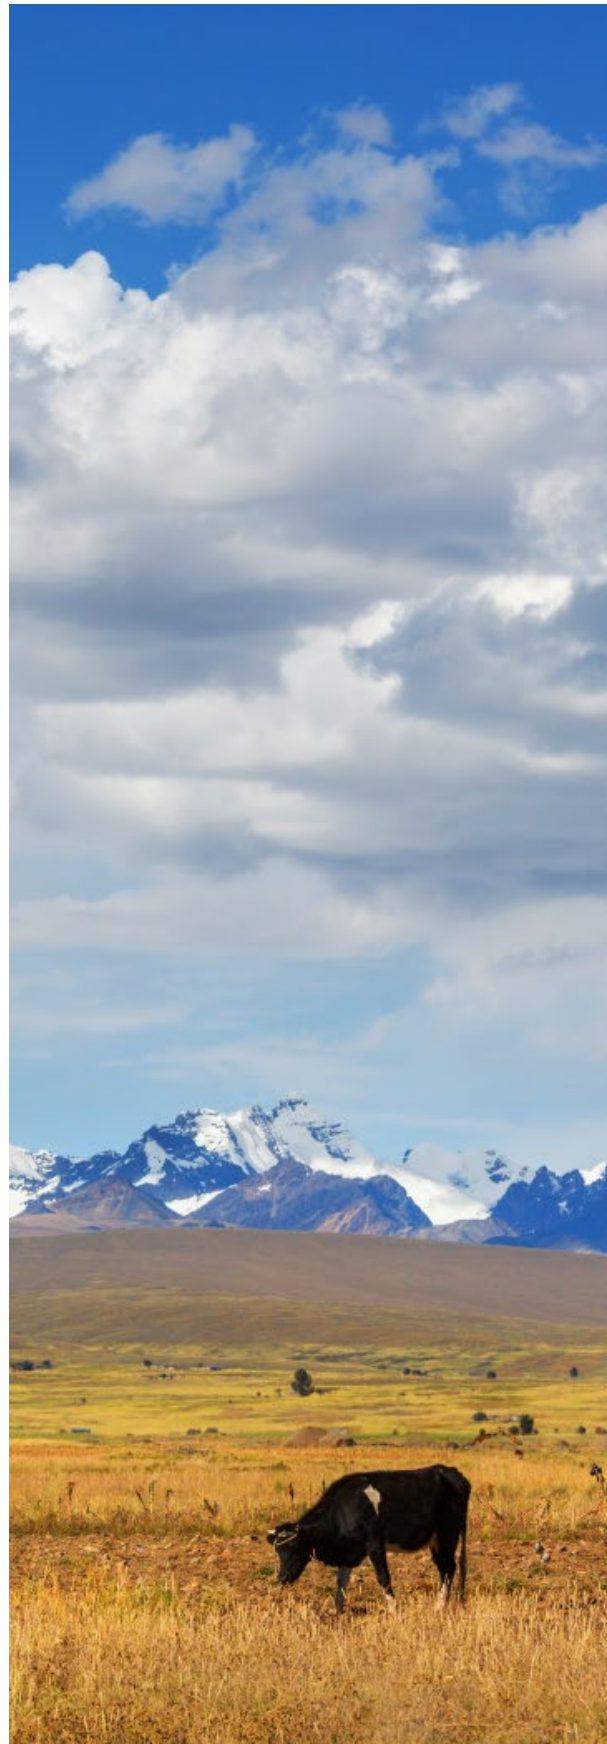

CUTTING-EDGE TECHNOLOGY BOTH IN CONSULTATION SERVICES FOR THE CUSTOMER, IN THE PRODUCTION AND DESIGN PHASES

We combine manual techniques with mechanical processes using cutting-edge technologies in the consultation, design and production phases to produce unique products that meet the most demanding client requests. Along the way we add a healthy pinch of our own creativity.

SUSTAINABILITY

COMMUNICATING THE SUSTAINABLE NATURE OF LEATHER IS AN ESSENTIAL PART OF OUR MISSION.

We are committed to the circular economy and a more sustainable world. Leather is a natural, eco-friendly material with low environmental impact that will last over time and can be repaired, reused or recycled. Our manufacturing processes comply with the most stringent environmental regulations and we are constantly looking for new ways to improve the sustainability of the company.

INTERNATIONALISATION

A SMALL COMPANY WITH GREAT AMBITION AND INTERNATIONAL SPIRIT

As a company with international vision, 85% of Foglizzo's turnover is generated abroad.

'Made in Italy' is a slogan recognised around the world: it connotes the creativity, craftsmanship and quality that has opened international doors for Italian companies. But we also need to understand and respect the culture of each market if we are to meet the different needs and desires that derive from those cultures.

As a company serving the international luxury sector, Foglizzo is structured to offer not only high quality products, but also outstanding customer service.

From the immediate response to requests for quotations or samples, regardless of the time zone, to the packaging made from recycled materials and photographic preview service of what we ship, customers can rest assured that we are at their service. Always.

ESSENTIAL BOX

A showcase of the extraordinary potential of the Foglizzo leather system. A selection of our best Plain & Decorative leathers available in an extensive range of solutions which continues to grow.

ANILINE

PLAIN

Nappa leather is a full grain un-split leather, it retains a lot of the original textures and markings of the hide and it's slightly pigmented, which lets the surface grain show through.

Nappa is very supple, lightweight and wears well compared to other leathers. It is tough and durable in spite of being soft. Often it develops a patina over the years that adds to its beauty.

Curiosity

Emanuel Manasse, son of a tanner, immigrated to America from Germany in 1864. He was a gifted tanner and in 1875 whilst working for a tanning company in Napa, California, he is credited with developing patent leather and extremely soft nappa leather.

GRAIN

PLAIN

Grain leather is fully natural, with a unique soft and supple hand. It represents the highest quality of standard products for upholstery applications. Commonly referred to as top grain and lacking an intact full grain surface. It is usually pigmented but, the grain layer or dermis has not been altered. The grain layer gives each type of leather its distinctive appearance.

Curiosity

Leather has a very unique structure. It is made up of millions of tiny fibres finer than hair. They are so fine that 2,000 side by side would only span one centimetre. These fine fibres are grouped together into coarser fiber, which in turn are grouped into even thicker fibre. These are then woven together in an intricate pattern with special characteristics allowing channels and passages. That allow air and perspiration to pass through and provides good elasticity.

SUEDE

PLAIN

Suede is produced from the under layer of the hide that has been split. The inner surface of the skin is processed to create the typical velvety effect. Suede hide is soft, thin and pliable, characteristics that make them popular for upholstery, shoes, bags, and other accessories, and as a lining for other leather products.

Curiosity

The term suede comes from the French “gants de suède”, which literally means “Swedish gloves”. In 1809, a leather-splitting machine was invented that could split heavy leathers to any desired thickness, producing skins known as splits, which are sueded on both sides.

NUBUCK

PLAIN

This is a top grain leather that has been buffed (sanded) to soften the surface and give it a “suede-like” appearance. It is extremely soft and luxurious, and also stronger and more expensive than suede which is made from split hide. Like other anilines, nubuck leather is prone to fading and soiling, will develop an aged patina over time, is soft to the touch, scratches easily, and water drops darken it temporarily.

Curiosity

Historically, Nubuck was made from buckskin of deer or elk and was bought to the US market at the beginning of the 1930's. At first, this new type of leather didn't encounter much success, until the Duke of Windsor traveled on a royal visit to the United States. He was wearing Oxfords made of the new nubuck and thanks to him, the new style took off.

EMBOSSSED

DECORATIVE

Using particular hot stamping techniques we can create more or less three-dimensional patterns permanently. If the leather used is an aniline, magnificent chromatic effects are created that accentuate the three-dimensionality of the design.

The surface has finite dimensions, therefore it is necessary to consult a sale representative to understand where the join of the pattern will occur. Our Decorative collection presents several examples of this fascinating technique.

The laser technique allows designs of absolute precision, and for reproducing patterns on large surfaces.

OUT OF THE BOX

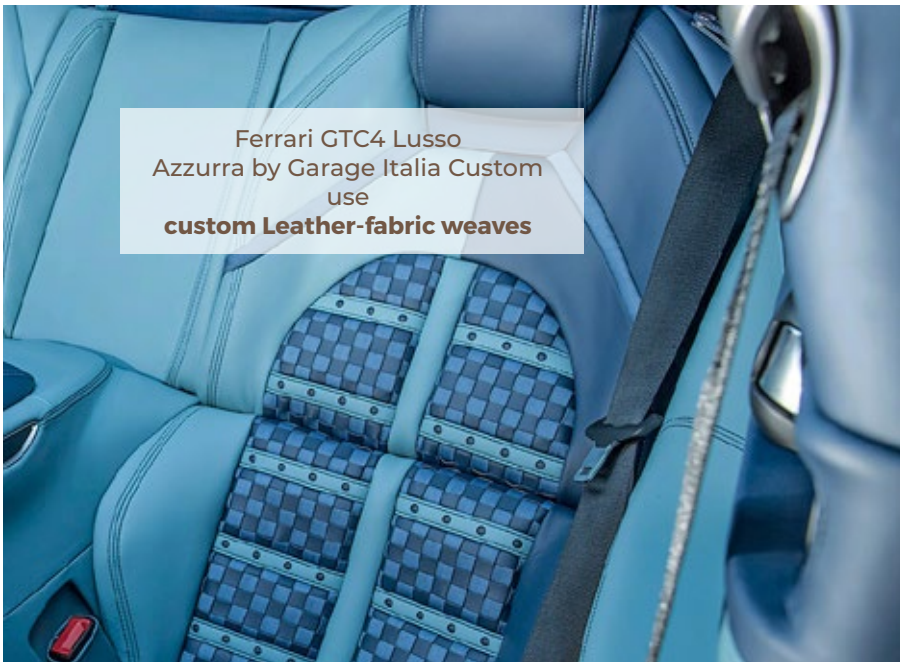

A trend over the last few years is the leather weave.

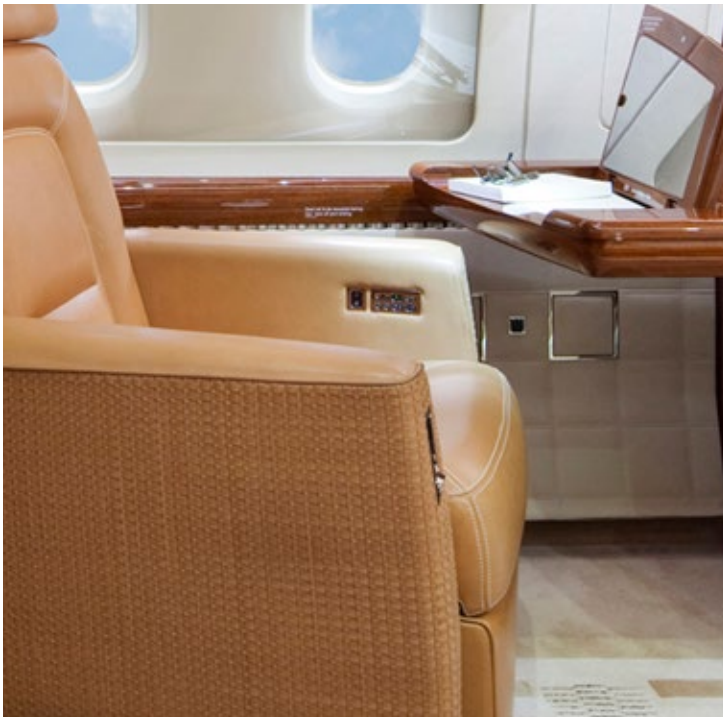

The weaving technique borrowed from the world of wicker marries the best Italian leather, creating precious and exclusive surfaces whose dimension goes beyond that of the classic size of the leathers.

We have wonderful selections of woven fabrics in our collection, but by its nature it stimulates customisation.

You can choose not only the type of leather and the colour, but also create your own weave by choosing the width and the type of texture that best suits your project.

EXOTICS

LEATHER FROM ALL AROUND THE WORLD

Leather skins from all around the world, to add an authentic exotic touch to any interior project.

Foglizzo makes an accurate selection of the best raw exotics and reptile hides worldwide: ostrich leathers, zebra, perch fish, parchment, galuchat, eel, crocodile and python are combined with the most sophisticated treatments to offer the widest range of solutions.

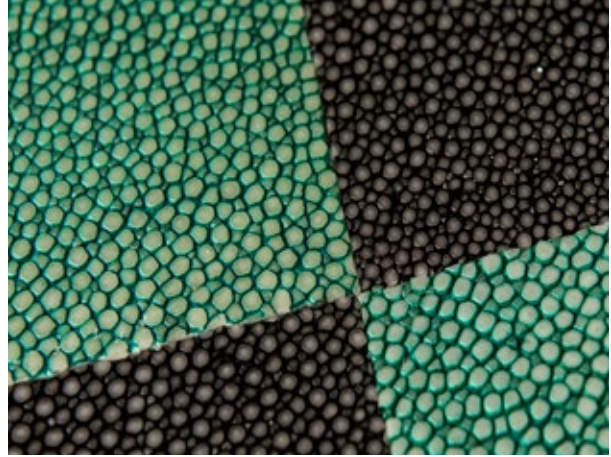

OUR BEST EXOTIC SELECTION

GALUCHAT or SHAGREEN

Shagreen is skin of the stingray. Originally used to clad a variety of courtly objects such as sword handles, sheaths, snuff boxes and wig cases, it soon became popular for luxury household items as well. Galuchat (French for “shagreen”) embodies the best qualities of both pearl and leather and requires a very skilled craftsman to work it.

Curiosity

The hilts of the traditional katana, the Samurai sword, were covered with shagreen, a form of raw, undyed leather, derived from stingrays. Legend has it that the stingray leather was the only leather suitable for covering a katana hilt, it did not get slick even when drenched with the blood of the enemy.

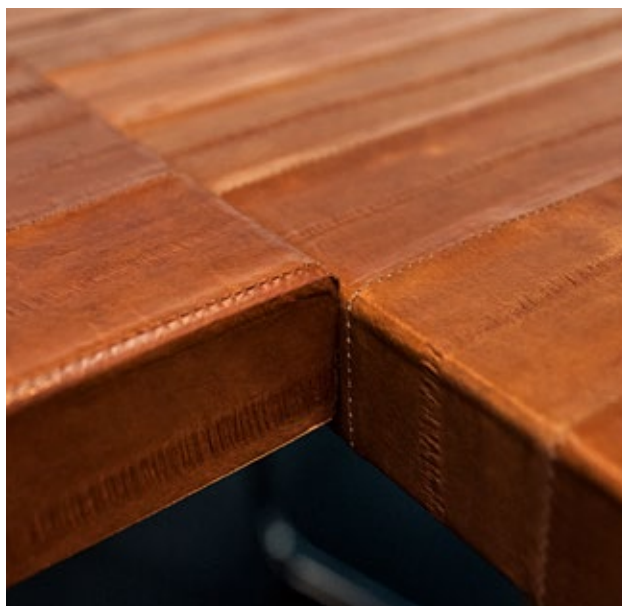

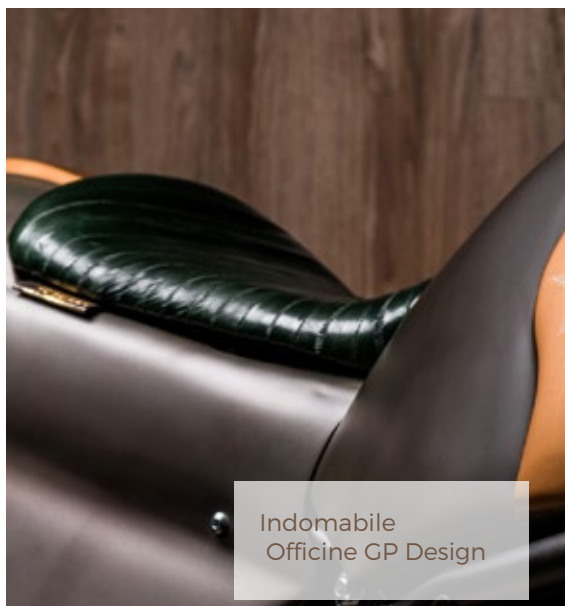

EEL

Eel skin leather is called the "Silk of the Ocean" due to its light weight, suppleness, smooth texture and surprising strength. Small skins, which come in both matte and glossy finishes in bright colors, are sewn together to create larger pieces, which can be used for anything from wall paneling to wallets. Eel skin is almost maintenance free.

Curiosity

Eel skin is 150% stronger and more flexible than any other leather, withstanding the high pressures found at the bottom of the sea. It becomes softer, shinier and suppler with use and it's unique qualities improve with age, wearing exceptionally well while retaining it's distinctive look of quality.

PYTHON

Python skin is beautiful and extremely durable and lend itself to pliable and diverse applications. The skins are light in weight and come in a very diverse array of style and colors. And, like alligator and crocodile, its unique appearance is instantly recognisable which makes it a great leather to use for applications that will always maintain its luxury appeal. Glazed styles have a distinct shine and feel very smooth to the touch. Python skin is great for trims, upholstery, clutches and inlays and come in a wide variety of wild colours.

Curiosity

The python is native to Southeast Asia. Although the python skin trade is about 80 years old, demand has shot up in the last 20 years as it has become a must have in high fashion, thanks to its striking patterning.

OSTRICH

Ostrich leather is one of the strongest yet most pliable skins in the world. In addition to its uniquely bumpy texture, referred to as quills, the skin is full of natural oils; the more one touches the leather, the softer and more supple the product will become. These qualities make ostrich skin sought after for especially elegant products.

Curiosity

Although the first commercial farming began in South Africa in 1850, ostrich leather went on to make an impact in European haute couture becoming widespread during the 1970s. The unique properties and look of the ostrich hide has made it a popular choice for modern design in upholstery, handbags and trims.

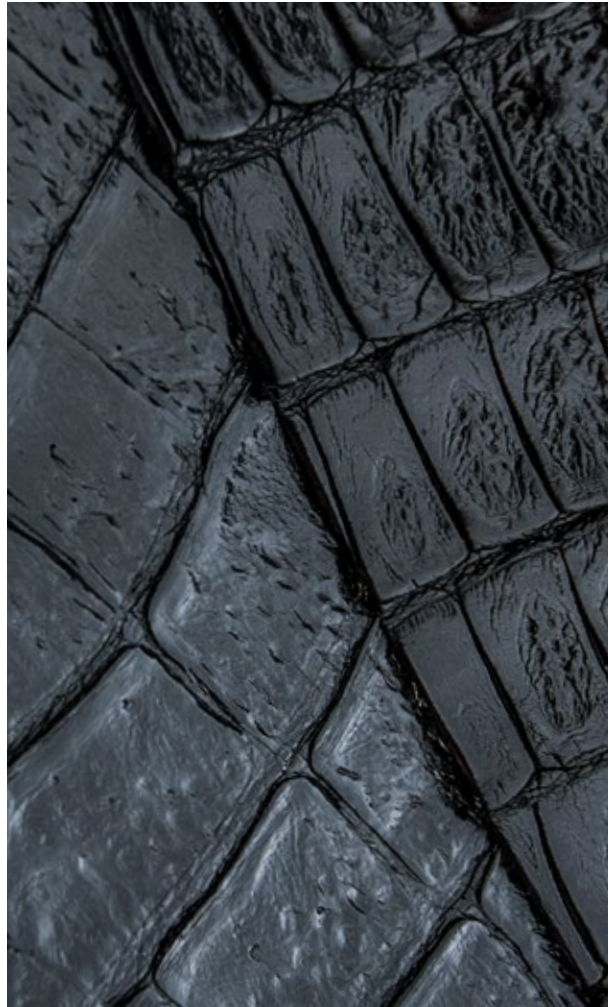

CROCODILE

Crocodile leather, is the tanned and processed skin of one of several species of crocodile from around the world. It is considered an exotic leather due to its relative rarity and the level of craftsmanship required to produce a finished crocodile hide for production uses such as upholstery for cars and furniture, handbags and apparel. With their intrinsic value as nature's most beautiful leather, crocodile leather goods are the epitome of timeless luxury

Curiosity

Skin crocodile is considered one of the finest and best, being soft and durable. In many tribal societies, skin crocodile is used as a symbol of high status. The back skin is covered in bones (called osteoderms) that can resist arrows, spears and even bullets!

CUSTOM PROCESSES

Customised leather can be developed even for single hide orders.

Thanks to highly skilled manufacturing Foglizzo can produce a wide range of non-stock leathers and alternative finishes, matching any specified colour to create a pigment match for the customer's leather. Our extensive embossed collection provides different textures designed to enhance the leather's grain surface.

Thanks to the development & design team we can reproduce any kind of pattern creating absolutely unique decorative leathers.

The printing plates can also have custom dimensions to adapt to the customer's design needs.

This flexibility enables Foglizzo to cater for customer taste at an individual level, and to support product development cycles from initial design concepts through to the final product.

The attention to detail, the individual skills, experience and techniques of the world's best leather makers ensure that Foglizzo bespoke leathers will deliver both creative and technical performance.

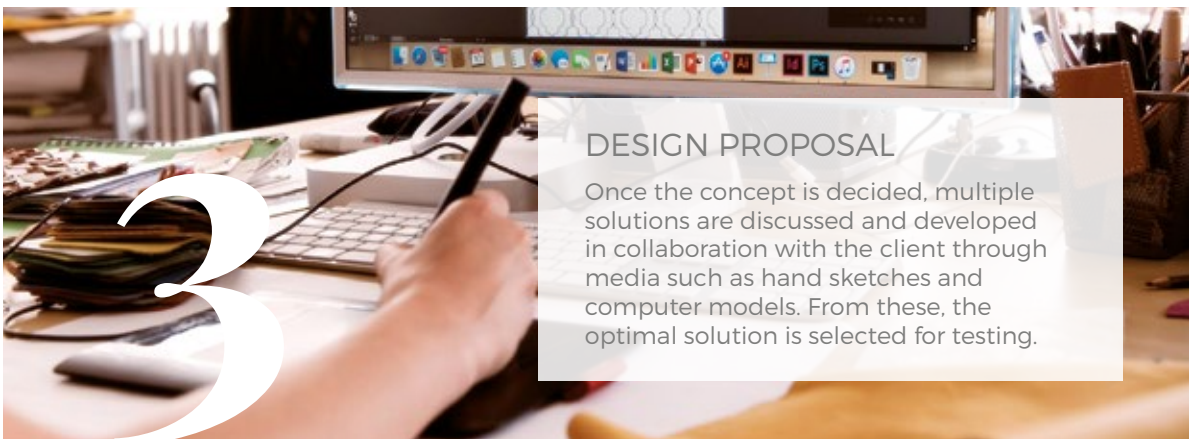

THE BRIEFING

First, we listen to the client's creative vision, as well as identify specific needs, technical requirements and expectations to develop a detailed project brief.

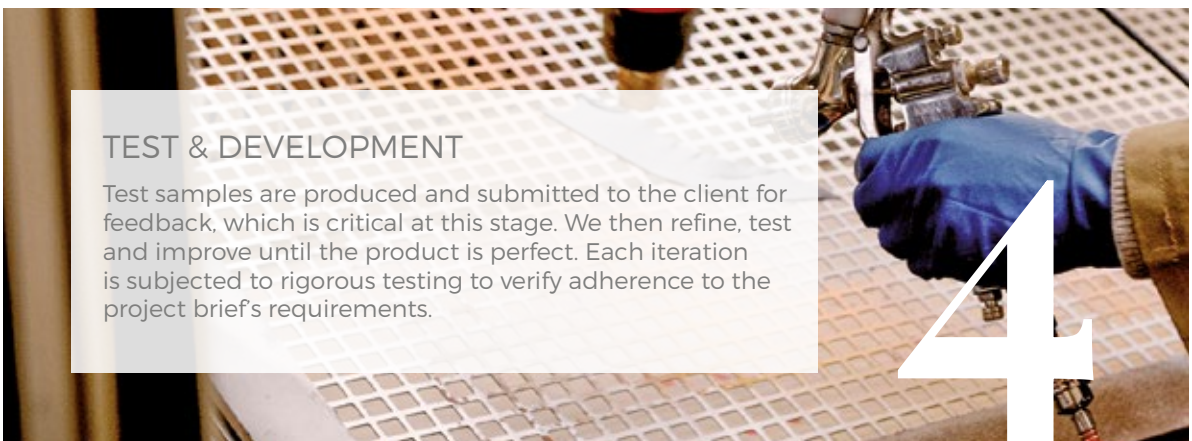

INSPIRATION & RESEARCH

Our approach to a new project depends entirely on the client's vision, but research is always an essential component of the design process. We often assemble a moodboard to effectively focus efforts and communicate concepts.

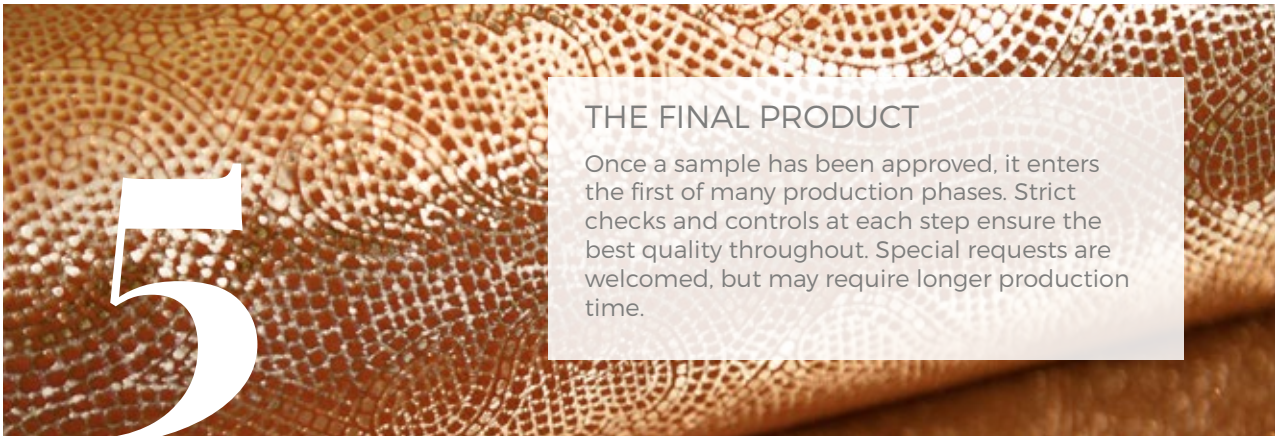

DESIGN PROPOSAL

Once the concept is decided, multiple solutions are discussed and developed in collaboration with the client through media such as hand sketches and computer models. From these, the optimal solution is selected for testing.

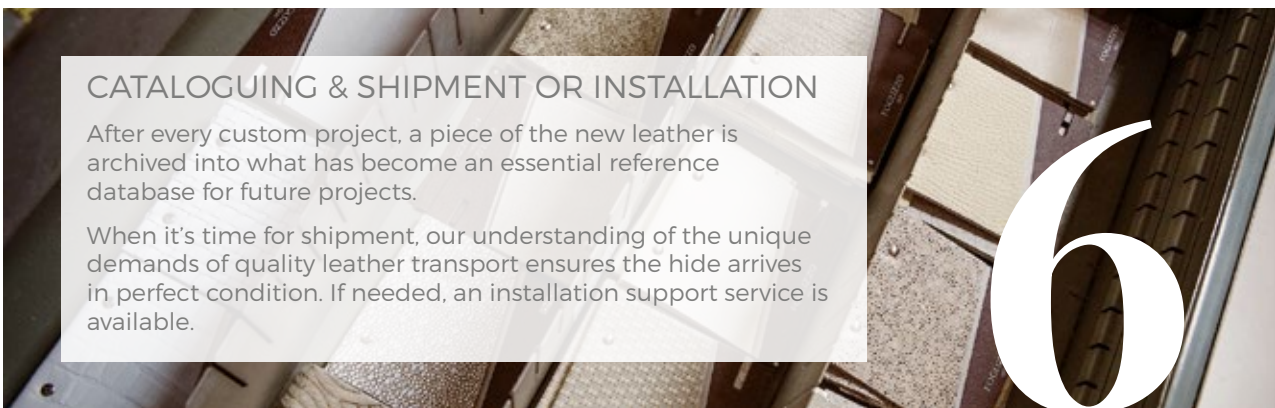

TEST & DEVELOPMENT

Test samples are produced and submitted to the client for feedback, which is critical at this stage. We then refine, test and improve until the product is perfect. Each iteration is subjected to rigorous testing to verify adherence to the project brief's requirements.

THE FINAL PRODUCT

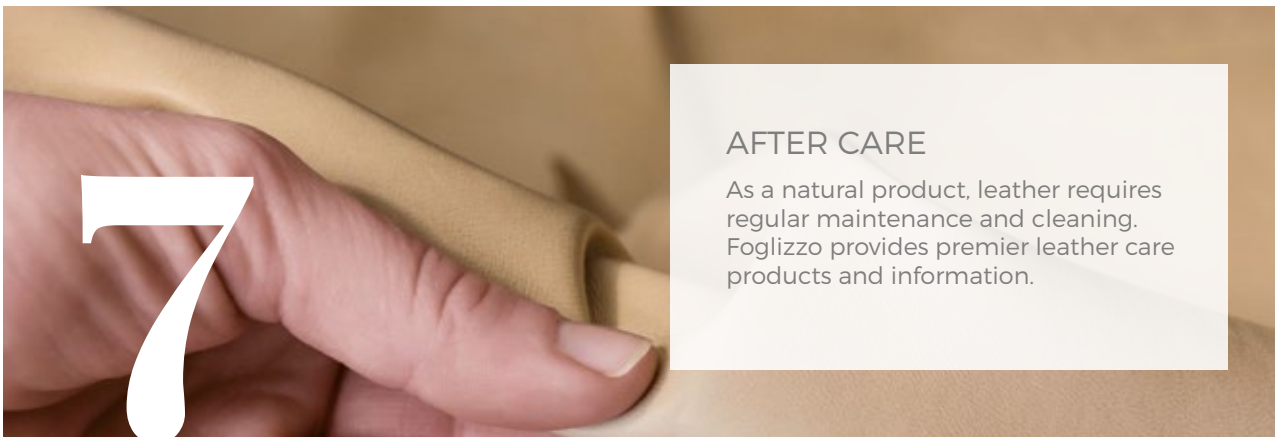

Once a sample has been approved, it enters the first of many production phases. Strict checks and controls at each step ensure the best quality throughout. Special requests are welcomed, but may require longer production time.

CATALOGUING & SHIPMENT OR INSTALLATION

After every custom project, a piece of the new leather is archived into what has become an essential reference database for future projects.

When it's time for shipment, our understanding of the unique demands of quality leather transport ensures the hide arrives in perfect condition. If needed, an installation support service is available.

AFTER CARE

As a natural product, leather requires regular maintenance and cleaning. Foglizzo provides premier leather care products and information.

LEATHER AGES BEAUTIFULLY AND ACQUIRES A FINE PATINA, REVEALING ITS NATURAL CHARACTERISTICS WITH TIME.

PROPER MAINTENANCE WILL ENHANCE AND EXTEND ITS LOOK AND CHARM.

Not only is regular care vital to maintain leather quality, it allows the skin to age gracefully as it develops a rich, appealing patina over time. Foglizzo knows that proper upkeep can vary according to skin type, which is why we've curated a regimen suited to each.

These products keep your leather supple and strong as it accompanies you through your life and the for the generations that follow.

Aniline leathers have the least amount of protective finish, requiring more care to ensure that soiling and stains are removed quickly to prevent discoloration.

4Leather Foglizzo is a holistic leather regimen, comprised of a protective Cream, a Light Cleaner, or set of wipes, and a Power Cleaner for removing difficult stains such as ink and lipstick.

Nubuck is top-grain leather that has been sanded or buffed on its grain, or outer side, making it velvety to the touch. Since the outermost layer of a skin is much tougher than deeper layers, nubuck is more durable than suede, yet similar to aniline leather: soft, easily scratched, and temporarily darkened by moisture (although it dries to its original colour).

Suede is a deeper layer that has been sanded on the inner side, making it a more delicate and exquisite alternative to nubuck or other traditional leathers.

Our 4Nubuck products are designed to remove spots and stains from suede as well as nubuck, and restore their downy textures.

ACOUSTIC LEATHER News

Foglizzo acoustic leather is a special perforated leather available in 7 sophisticated shades developed for its acoustic transparency properties.

It can be applied on existing acoustic panels to lend a beautiful luxury finish while enhancing the acoustic performance.

This makes it an ideal material in spaces where a high-fidelity listening experience is important, as in a home theatre or for in-wall speaker coverings. Under rigorous test conditions as a loud speaker covering, for example, our nubuck leather has been shown to provide over 98% acoustic transparency and less than 1.4% sound absorption.
